Information concerning scheduled maintenance

Observing the maintenance schedule recommended by Ferrari is essential for keeping your vehicle in pristine condition throughout its life span.

Scheduled Maintenance intervals dependent on component wear are indicated by the system used by authorised Ferrari Network service centres to determine component wear.

If access to the aforementioned digital systems is not available, the service centre may simply follow the instructions of the maintenance schedule tables given in the manufacturer's warranty booklet.

In the case of mileages lower than the values specified in the maintenance schedule, the procedures specified for Annual Maintenance (listed below) must be performed:

The imminent necessity of a Scheduled Maintenance service is indicated as follows:

- by a message on the left hand TFT display indicating the remaining kilometres/miles or days before the service is required;
- by the software system used by an authorised Ferrari Network service centre to determine component wear.

Disconnecting the battery for prolonged periods will interrupt the service time counter determining activation of the "service" indicator lamp.

As a result, the Annual Maintenance must be performed at least once a year even if the "service" indicator is not displayed or the mileage required for the subsequent service interval has not been reached.
